Pastoral Letter for the Second Sunday in Easter 2016

Peter

BY THE GRACE OF GOD, AND FAVOUR OF THE APOSTOLIC SEE, BISHOP OF WREXHAM

TO

THE CLERGY AND THE CONSECRATED AND LAY FAITHFUL OF THE DIOCESE OF WREXHAM

Health and Benediction in the Lord

Dear Brothers and Sisters in Christ,

One of the most wonderful passages in the Gospels is S.Luke’s account of the disciples on the journey to Emmaus and their encounter with the risen Jesus (Luke 23:13-35), for not only does it provide us with one of the resurrection appearance stories, but tells us too of the early Christian community’s Eucharistic practice and liturgical form. That in turn demonstrates the process which each of us is to make in our spiritual and religious lives. That journey takes us from questioning where we are and what is life all about; through being evangelized, to belief; to sharing that which is at very heart of our faith, the Eucharist; to telling that which we know, and strengthening others in the community and helping them in their desire for the fullness of faith. That process is what puts meaning into the word ‘parish’ and takes it beyond just being a territory or particular group of people. (cf. Can. 515§1)

‘The parish,’ Pope Francis reminds us, ‘is not an outdated institution precisely because it possesses great flexibility; it can assume quite different contours depending on the openness and missionary creativity of the pastor and the community.’ (Evangelii Gaudium 23). At this time and for the foreseeable future we are all deeply aware of the need to use that ‘flexibility’, and with ‘openness and missionary creativity’ to remodel the parishes and the Diocese.

Over the past months, indeed years, I have written documents, articles and letters, prepared plans and protocols; been having conversations, preaching and speaking, praying and reflecting upon a way forward for the Diocese, bearing in mind the position we now find ourselves in with regard to the number of people who now attend Mass, the number of churches we have and the number of priests to serve them, and have come up with a solution for the future. From this weekend that plan, which has been discussed with the Priests’ Council with whom Canon Law requires me to consult, comes into effect. To some it will be shocking, to others not radical enough; to some it will come as a relief, to others a disappointment or even a scandal; to us all it will be a challenge, but I firmly believe also a huge opportunity for renewal. It will mean pastors and communities will have to look afresh at how we live parish life, how the Catholic Church in North Wales is profoundly missionary.

Returning for a moment to the disciples on the road to Emmaus who were transformed as the scriptures were opened for them; we must immerse ourselves in the reading and reflection on the Gospels, particularly on our own, with others, and in the Liturgy. As the disciples recognised Jesus in the breaking of bread, we must commit ourselves to keeping the Lord’s Day - the day of Resurrection - holy in our participation of Sunday Mass. Like the disciples, we are to share the joy of knowing the risen Lord Jesus with our fellow Catholics and Christians, as well as the ‘preaching that falls to each of us as a daily responsibility. … bringing the Gospel to the people we meet, whether they be our neighbours or complete strangers.’ (Evangelii Gaudium 127).

Churches are going to be closed and I hope some new ones built; parishes are going to be suppressed and new ones established, and some Mass times will be altered. Not all of this will happen at once, but some of it will happen immediately, i.e. within weeks. I said at the outset of this reorganization and restructuring, my intent was to ensure that in each of the remaining churches of the Diocese Sunday Mass would be celebrated every Sunday of the year. On present calculations, by 2020 the number of under-retirement-age priests will be 22; therefore to achieve my intention there need be around only 40 churches, not the 62 there currently are. Many of the details and consequences of closures and reorganization cannot be worked out beforehand and can only be faced in the reality of the new situation, and so I ask you to approach this with a generous heart and steadfast faith. The disciples on the road to Emmaus began their journey downcast and dis-spirited thinking their world had come to an end with the death of Jesus their friend and teacher and indeed their hope. And it had, but what a new beginning they had when, through the scriptures and the breaking of bread, they truly encountered their risen Lord.

Either from your parish priest or on the Diocesan website you will be able to read again this letter as well as the previous documents I had prepared, Into the Future 1 & 2, but as a number of postscripts to this letter I give the details of the changes over the next few weeks in each of the existing Deaneries of the Diocese. There will need to be parish meetings and decisions made about names of new parishes, cooperation about new Mass times, support of your priests as they come to terms with new arrangements; and brother priests and deacons support of your people as they understandably grieve over what is lost. For all though, this is both a time of remembering and thanksgiving for those from whom we have received the faith, their endeavours and their sacrifices. In each of the churches that are to close I will celebrate a final Mass of thanksgiving for all our benefactors in faith and goods.

Where there are just changes or re-alignment of Mass time within Deaneries these will be effective on and from Pentecost weekend, that is 14th /15th May 2016. In the meantime I commend to you again my Eastertide challenge of reading part of S. Luke’s Gospel each day.

Be assured of my continued prayers for you, your families, and the Diocese.
